

Lubbock Lodging Analysis June 2015

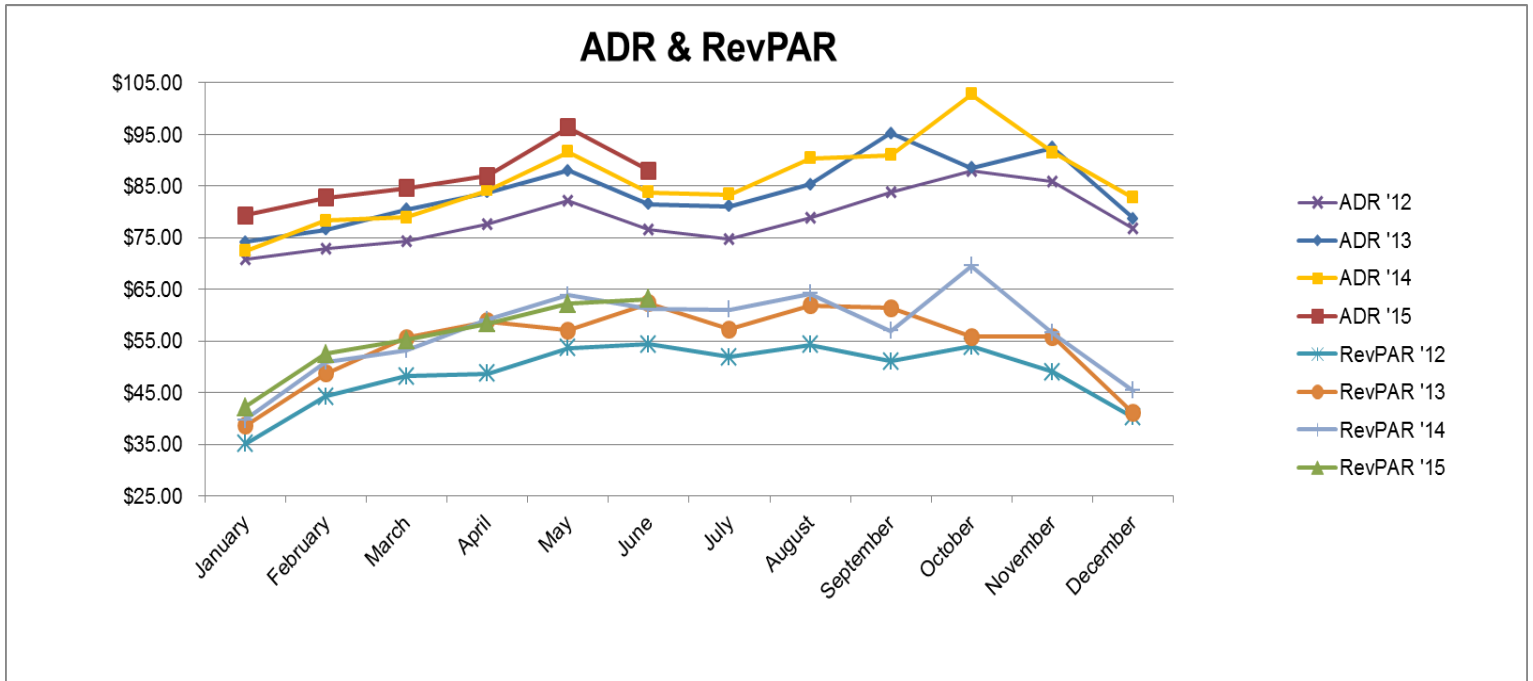

Occupancy for June 2015 decreased 1.8% from June 2014 to 71.8%. Occupancy is calculated as a percentage of the rooms that are available in any given month.

The following chart shows that the Year-to-Date supply of rooms in the market has increased 4.0%. There are currently approximately 780 rooms under construction in Lubbock. Room demand (rooms occupied) increased 2.2% from room demand for June 2014.

The following chart shows the average daily rate (ADR) and RevPAR (REvenue Per Available Room) for the market. The chart shows that room rates for June 2015 have increased 5.1% from June 2014 to $88.03. RevPAR for June 2015 also increased 3.2% from June 2014 to $63.17. RevPAR is calculated based on total room revenues divided by all of the rooms in the supply which includes rooms left vacant.

The final chart below shows that total lodging revenue has increased 7.4% from June 2014 and is up 4.5% for calendar year 2015. Total revenue has increased for 16 of the last 18 consecutive months. The trend shown in the revenue chart directly corresponds to the ADR and RevPAR increases in the previous charts.

